

OUR GOAL

The goal of this camp is to help kids establish a healthy Christian life, living in faith. As we enter our eighth year of doing horse camps, we have seen kids become increasing anxious and afraid. Our aim is to help them choose to be brave, walking in faith, without giving in to anxiety.

OUR METHOD

Our camps use the EAGALA (Equine Assisted Growth and Learning Association) method of experiential learning. The children learn ground work (horse-handling skills without actually riding the horse) for the first five weeks of class. Each session will include an hour-long horse activity which is much like a team-building exercise. By completing these activities campers learn about self-esteem...while they have fun!

CAMP STRUCTURE

Each camp session starts with a brief discussion followed by a horse activity. The last 30 minutes of each session consists biblically-based devotion relating to bravery.

Campers are given a short journal to fill out each week. When they complete five memory verses and the journal, they are allowed to ride the horses on the last week of camp.
